

[lo:rən]

Übersetzerhaus Looren Collège de traducteurs Looren Translation House Looren

Mission statement: Translation House Looren

The Translation House Looren association runs the Translation House as a nonprofit institution. With its targeted promotion of literary translation, the association contributes to dialogue between languages and cultures.

The Translation House Looren association provides a building fully equipped with facilities tailored to the needs of translators. It offers working residencies at favorable conditions for professional literary translators from all over the world.

Translation House Looren additionally promotes selected translation projects and residencies by awarding grants.

Translation House Looren supports translators' continuing professional development and global networking by arranging seminars and workshops.

Translation House Looren enhances the status of translators in the literary world and in society by organizing public events.

Translation House Looren initiates and actively participates in projects in Switzerland and abroad, working together with other institutions that pursue related goals.

Translation House Looren is open to new developments and also supports unconventional projects.

April 2010